

Getting Started

A practical onboarding guide for understanding the ProjectHub workspace from day one.

Who should read this guide

Best for new students, team leaders, supervisors, and anyone opening ProjectHub for the first time.

What you will learn

- Understand the main dashboard areas and what each card means.
- Complete the first setup actions that unlock smooth daily use.
- Know where to find your team, tasks, meetings, submissions, and support tools.

Recommended first actions

- Review your profile and make sure your role, contact details, and team context are correct.
- Use the sidebar once to visit Dashboard, My Team, Tasks, Calendar, Submissions, and Help Center.
- Enable the notification settings you want before active project work begins.

Why this card matters

This PDF expands the help-center card into a practical reference so users can understand not only where a feature lives, but also how to use it in a real graduation-project workflow.

Detailed walkthrough and practical recommendations for using this ProjectHub card well.

What this card covers

The Getting Started card is the shortest path to understanding how ProjectHub is organized and how users move through it every day.

- It explains the workspace layout, role-based navigation, and core pages you will rely on most often.
- It helps new users avoid confusion by showing where common actions live before deadlines start.
- It acts as the foundation guide before moving to team, task, or submission-specific help cards.

Your first workflow inside ProjectHub

A strong start comes from understanding the sequence of actions rather than opening pages randomly.

- Start from the dashboard to read recent activity, deadlines, and quick indicators.
- Open My Team to confirm your team membership, leader, supervisor, and workspace status.
- Visit Tasks and Calendar early so your planning and due dates stay aligned from the beginning.

What success looks like

After finishing this guide, a new user should feel comfortable moving independently across the platform.

- You should know what to check first each day and what pages matter for your role.
- You should understand how ProjectHub connects teamwork, progress tracking, and academic delivery.
- You should know when to continue with the Help Center, FAQs, or direct support contact.

Recommended habits

Small habits early on save a lot of rework later in the semester.

- Open the dashboard at the start of each session and clear urgent notifications first.
- Keep your profile, team details, and reminders current whenever something changes.
- Use support resources before a blocker becomes a missed deadline.

Support note

If something still feels unclear after reading the guide, continue to the FAQ page or contact support from the dashboard support area.
